Herman W. Dock Euys Site for Mansion-Sudden Illness of Hope Joslin-Rev. George Adams Arrested on Charge of Arson-No Autopsy Necessary in Helm Casz-$30,000 Suit Against Railway.

Herman W. Dock, who with his family occopies the Hannah B. W. Brown homestead in High street, has purchased about six acres of land from the Stanton S. Thompson property, fronting on the Watch Hill road and extending to the Pawcatuck river, with the Mastuxet pond on the north side of the purchase by Mr. Dock is on the water front and side, and his directly across the pond from the Kathlien Anderson estate, and, like the latter property, extends out into the river, making it an ideal dwelling site, especially adapted for a summer home.

The Anderson and newly acquired Dock properties are at either side of the mouth of Mastuxet cov, where it enters the Pawcatuck river, and just far enough away from Watcy Hill to permit comfortable exclusiveness. Mastexet brook, which empties direct into the pond, is near the Pleasant View junction of the street railway, and the body of water broadens out as it reaches the river, and therefore the Anderson and Dock propomontories are quite wide apart.

It is Mr. Dock's intention to creet a mansion on his newly acquired property, and to improve and beautify every inch of his leves estate with the sex the river, and therefore the Anderson and Dock promontories are quite wide apart.

Rev. George Adams, carrying Bible, hymnal and psaim book, and singing "I Am Coming, Lord, I Am Coming," as he was escorted to a police station in Providence Tuesday, attracted much attention. He is a colored preacher, had recently arrived from Maryland and was arrested at the request of Sheriff John R. Wilcox of Washington county. Rev. Mr. Adams 's charged with arson in setting fire to a house in North Kingston owned by Joseph Robinson. On the charge of perjury in connection with the Adams case Rev. Allen Waters of Providence was also taken into custody. Both men were taken to Kingston jail by Sheriff Wilcox pending hearing.

Rev. George Adams is well known in Westerly, as he kept himself in the liminglight when he was here about three years ago as elder of the Church of God and Saints of Christ, Tabernacle, No. 2, located in Main street.
